MARSHAL FOCH, HERO OF WAR, TO COME HERE ON SUNDAY

Distinguished Frenchman Will Motor to Glendale on His Journey Into Pasadena

FERDINAND FOCH, marshal of France, will be Glendale's guest Sunday afternoon.

Hailed as America's most distinguished visitor to the American Legion convention and coming to Los Angeles for a brief stay of a day, this hero of the world war will see Glendale and Pasadena after a triumphal parade in Los Angeles.

Arrangements were made yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce with P. F. Roller, chairman of the Los Angeles reception committee, to have the general's party motor through Hollywood to Glendale en route to Pasadena from the Ambassador hotel.

Piloted by Frank Harlan, sergeant commanding the metropolitan mounted motorcycle police, the party will leave the Ambassador at 3:30 o'clock and reach Los Feliz Road and Brand boulevard, Glendale, at 3:45 p. m. They will proceed north on Brand to Broadway, then east to the city hall, where Marshal Foch will be introduced to Mayor Spencer Robinson and Georges Le Mesnager, Glendale's own veteran fighter for France, and V. M. Hollister, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

S. C. Packer of the Studebaker agency will furnish the escort car in which Mayor Robinson, Mr. Le Mesnager and Mr. Hollister, the latter president of the Chamber of Commerce, will accompany the marshal.

Trip Is Severe Strain

Youth Gives Blood to Save His Father, Taken Seriously Ill

George Edwards Hall, well-known writer, formerly Shakespearean actor and one of the best-known pioneers in the moving picture industry, whose life hung in the balance for days before he was brought to the Research Hospital at Glendale, has made a phenomenal recovery, and has been taken to his home, at 6411 Romaine street, Hollywood, convalescent, and with every prospect of regaining his normal health.

His case which was pronounced pernicious anaemia in an entirely new form was first treated by blood transfusion, which was not efficacious. The cure was effected by means of blood infusion given for several days in succession, followed by daily infusions of an entirely new serum. Some of the blood used was taken from a medical student, once from a prominent Glendale man, and the remainder, from five different times, from Mr. Hall's son, George Hall, Jr., a lad of 20, who adores his father, and who, upon being told that Mr. Hall was suffering from a hitherto almost unknown form of the disease, remarked, "Leave it to dad, if he must be sick, to have something original." Mr. Hall's case has attracted much attention in the medical world and many well-known physicians visited the hospital during his five weeks' sojourn there.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall and sons, George and Benny, have returned this year from an extended trip abroad where they have been traveling for the past five years, visiting first in the Bermudas, spending two years in England, some time in Italy, and other parts of Europe. Mr. Hall has written some of the finest scenarios that have appeared upon the screen, and was a well known Shakespearean actor, before the days of the moving pictures. He is now fifty years of age.

During his illness, Mrs. Hall and the sons were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Schenck, 1143 East Elk avenue, who are life-long friends of the family.

Jerome B. Tabour and Wife Home From Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome B. Tabour of 1315 North Louise street, who are listed among the most prominent residents of this city, have returned from a six months' visit to Minneapolis, Minn., and other eastern points, where Mr. Tabour has business interests. They report a pleasant time, but both are glad to be back in their southern California home for the winter months.

A. J. HARRISON SELLS HOME

A. J. Harrison has sold his residence at 441 West Windsor Road to Oscar B. Tewes, a recent arrival in Glendale who has been a steward on dining cars for years. Mr. Harrison is now living at his son's home, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harrison of 221 West Lomita avenue.

NOTED SPEAKERS TO GIVE TALKS FOR EDUCATION WEEK

Buron Fitts, Former Chief of Legion, and S. B. Wilson, State Board, Coming

Buron Fitts, past commander of the California branch of the American Legion, and Stanley B. Wilson, member of the state board of education, will speak at the high school and intermediate school auditoriums Tuesday night, according to an announcement this morning by the general committee in charge of the observance of National Education Week.

"I think that National Education Week is very important both from the standpoint of the schools and from the standpoint of the public whose property the schools are," declared Superintendent Richardson D. White this morning.

"I feel that as a rule the people of any community are too busy to give their schools the attention they ought to have. A public institution of this type should be of great interest to every taxpayer in the community. To center their attention upon them for one week makes it possible for them to give them more consideration than they can all the year around. I think that it will result in a better understanding on the part of the public as to the work of the schools."

"I think it will prevent or eliminate misunderstandings on the part of patrons in regard to just what the schools are aiming to accomplish. Let me give you one illustration: Some people think that the modern school has gotten away from the fundamentals and that they spend too much time teaching the non-essentials. Any one, who will visit our schools, will find that three-fourths of the time is put in on fundamentals such as reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling. This will be a revelation to some people, who misunderstand the schools and feel that they are wasting a lot of time upon things which don't count."

"I feel that it is in the interests of the schools and the public to get together once a year."

Official Program Prepared for Education Week Events

The general committee in charge of Education Week, December 4 to 10, today gave out the official program for the week's observance in Glendale. Here is the program; cut it out and keep it for future reference.

Parents, friends and all who are interested are cordially invited to visit the schools during the week.

Monday—Automobile parade of high school students and seventh and eighth grade students of the Intermediate and Cerritos schools.

Line of March—Assemble at Glendale and Cerritos avenues, west on Cerritos to Brand, north on Brand (Continued on Page 2)

Official Program Prepared for Education Week Events

Claiming that the proposed sewage disposal system for the business district is totally inadequate, a delegation composed of John A. Cole, C. E. Damerell, H. E. Noble, Ed Coker, J. E. Peters and R. L. Taylor, appeared before the city council last night and asked that proceedings be halted for a week, so that further evidence of the alleged insufficiency of the system might be brought to the attention of the interests involved.

But it was pointed out to the delegation that fully seventy-five per cent of the business men in the proposed sewer district has signed the petition asking the council to order the work, that the matter had been under discussion for months and that, finally, the contract had been awarded and, consequently, the council was powerless to halt the proceedings.

"The business men of this city, by a large majority, asked this council to order the sewage disposal system; the matter was talked about for months; there was no secrecy. Finally, the council let the contract. Now you, some of you having signed the petition for the sewer, come here and ask us to stop the work and make the taxpayers of the city liable. It's not fair; it's not justice."

That's what Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson said in answer to the protesters. Other members of the council said about the same thing.

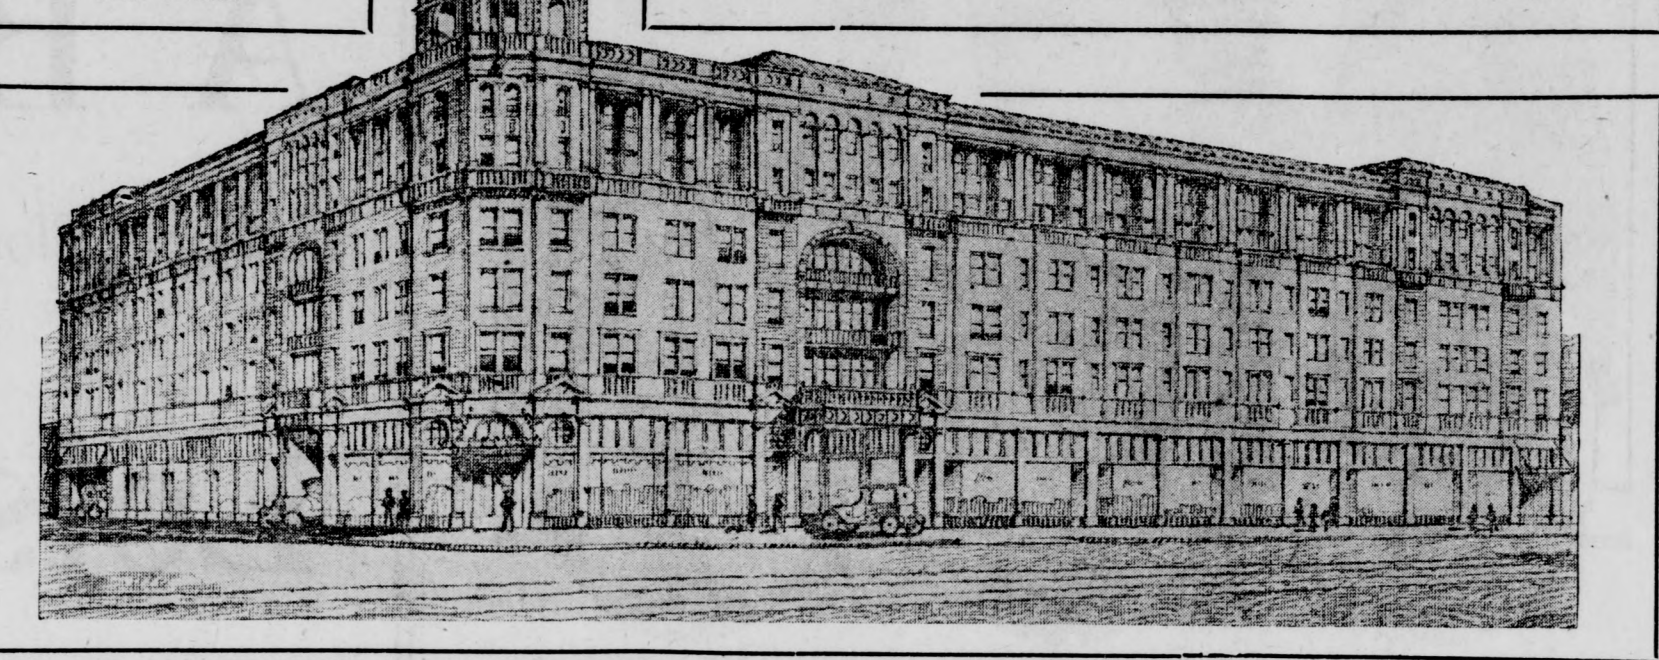

"The business men of the city got us into this thing; now they must stand back of us," said Stephenson. "The majority rules. We would not have ordered the work if the business men had not petitioned for it."

The delegation then left. It is reported that a petition will be put in circulation asking the work be stopped. City Attorney Bert Woodard has stated the council is now powerless to stop the proceedings and the time for protest has long since past.

The monthly friendly meeting of the Japanese and American Society will be held tomorrow night, December 3, at 8 o'clock in the Sunday school room of the Tropic Presbyterian church. There will be speakers and music, followed by a social hour. Refreshments will be served by the Japanese.

The R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church will hold its next regular meeting December 6 at the home of Mrs. J. Roger Bentley, 715 North Central avenue.

Architect's Sketch of Six-Story Ambrosini Hotel Building to Rise at Broadway and Glendale Avenue This Winter

Representing an investment of upwards of $500,000, the plans are being rushed to completion by the Roy L. Kent Company, architects, for the new Ambrosini Hotel which Anthony Ambrosini declares will be carried to early completion. The Hjorth Construction Company is now building the retaining walls.

ANTHONY AMBROSINI RUSHES WORK ON HOTEL BUILDING

Many Unique Features to Be Incorporated in Structure; Half Million Investment

ARCHITECTURALLY speaking, the Ambrosini Hotel which is to be erected at the corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue, will be the most magnificent pile in the city, rising six stories above ground. The Roy L. Kent Company, architects, is rushing plans for the building and already the basement and first two floors are ready for construction crews.

The Hjorth Construction company of 224 South Brand boulevard is now completing the excavation impossible for the steam shovel and building the retaining walls as a preliminary precaution.

"As soon as this work is completed actual building will begin," Anthony Ambrosini states, and he is ready to finance it to a point where the public will see the value of such a hostelry. "I am sure if Glendale people realized what this establishment would mean for the whole city they would support me in this effort," he adds.

Prevents Congestion
Among the features to be incorporated in this building which is unusual from the standpoint of location and architecture will be a main entrance at an angle, the driveway going into the archways on the south and west sides of the main lobby of the hotel, thereby allowing motor cars to load and unload passengers with facility and without congesting the public thoroughfare.

Public sidewalks will continue on each side of this tunnel driveway, giving the corner store room an "island" location. In addition to the ground floor space this store will have spacious basement quarters to carry complete stock.

The lobby will be centrally located between the Broadway and Glendale (Continued on Page 4)

Eight Proposals to Care for Postoffice Under Consideration

Eight proposals to house the Glendale postoffice under the new regime have been filed with Frank J. Hare, district postal inspector with headquarters in Los Angeles, and after a personal investigation by him they will be forwarded to Washington for final action, according to D. Ripley Jackson, appointee to the position of postmaster here.

Mr. Hare this morning made it clear to a representative of The Glendale Evening News that the rumors of some one furnishing postoffice accommodations free in order to swing the business section one direction or the other was unfounded.

However, he was non-committal on the propositions submitted and it was evident that some concessions have been made by property owners.

Mrs. Charles Rudel Is Hostess Behalf Club

The members of the Semi-Monthly Club were entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles Rudel, 315 West Vine street. A delicious four-course luncheon was served, after which the remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing whist. High score was made by Mrs. J. Chappius, who received three beautiful hand-painted plates. The hostess was awarded a prize of a hand-painted cup and saucer.

Those who enjoyed the delightful afternoon included: Mrs. James O'Neill Farrell, Mrs. Jack Lundreagan, Mrs. Mary Ruprecht, Miss Annabelle Ruprecht, Mrs. H. M. Doll, Mrs. Peter L. Ferry, Mrs. Mary O'Brien, Mrs. Jesse Chappius, Mrs. John Heule, Mrs. W. Hamilton, Mrs. Carrie Schmitt and the hostess.

Service Installations Showing Steady Gain

The installation of light and water meters for the month of November showed a consistent gain, there being 138 water meters added during the month, making a total of 6054, and 145 light meters, added, bringing the total to 6910, according to the records of the public service department in the city hall.

On December 1, 1920, there were 4727 water meters installed in the city, which shows a gain of 1327 for the last year, or more than 18 per cent. The gain in the number of light meters installed during the same period was 1751, or more than 33 per cent.

TELL OF EXTENDED TRIP TAKEN INTO EASTERN STATES

Mr. and Mrs. David Black at Home After Six Weeks Away; See Washington

Mr. and Mrs. David Black and daughter, Esther, of 1450 Kenneth road, and grandson, Peter Van Etten, have returned from a six-weeks' trip in the east. They visited relatives and friends in Denver and Boulder, Colo.; Mendota, Waukegan, Libertyville, Bloomington and Chicago, Ill., and New York and other cities. Peter Van Etten visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Van Etten of Mendota, while the Blacks were in the eastern states.

While in Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Black and daughter were fortunate to attend the senate and house while in session, and were taken through the White House. They also visited the home and burial place of Washington, Mount Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. Black were also pleased to have been in Washington on Armistice day, when all honor was paid to the unknown soldier who was laid to rest in Arlington cemetery. They were able to hear every word of President Harding's address on this occasion, never to be forgotten by those present.

Makes Lasting Impression
The vast crowd of people, the many representatives of foreign nations, the real native American chiefs with their feathered head dresses, the army and navy, all gathered to pay respect to the unknown soldier. The solemn roll of muffled drums, the silent three minutes of prayer, all made a lasting impression, they state.

Mr. and Mrs. Black found Washington to be a most beautiful city, with its many white stone and marble structures, and state it is with cause that the citizens of the United States feel proud of their capital, Philadelphia, and the cradle of liberty, were visited en route to New York.

One of the interesting trips taken from New York was to Ellis Island, which was made possible through the courtesy of Representative Wall (Continued on Page 17).

Cast for School's Play Selected and Rehearsals Started

The cast for "The Sweet-Meat Game," a one-act Chinese playlet, which will be presented at the high school auditorium December 15 and 16 in connection with the annual variety show, has been selected, according to Miss Mona Gardner, dramatic coach.

The honor of being the leading lady will be divided between Miss Virginia Huntley and Miss Betty Foll. Each will occupy the stellar role upon one night and they are busy studying the part of Woo Liu Mae, Chinese wife.

Yong Yueng, the young husband, will be depicted by Robert Fry. Miss Mary Florence Pate will play the part of San Chi, a half-wit son, and Victor Colburn will be "the White Devil."

The cast has been requested to present this play at the next session of teachers' institute in Los Angeles this month.

CITY GIVES TO FLOAT FUND
On motion of Councilman C. E. Kimlin, the city council last night authorized the drawing of a warrant for $750 out of the advertising promotion fund in favor of the float committee in charge of the display to be made in the Tournament of Roses, Pasadena.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—President Harding is strongly in favor of a modified American valuation plan being made the basis of the temporary tariff bill and he will urge congress to enact such a provision with all possible speed, republican members of the senate finance committee were officially informed today. The president believes, it was stated, that in view of the constantly changing economic and financial conditions in this country and in Europe, it will be futile to attempt to enact a permanent tariff bill at the approaching regular session of congress.

DUBLIN, Dec. 2.—Two sensational breaches of the Irish armistice, in which two men were killed and several others wounded, occurred in Dublin and Derry today. A jail delivery was attempted at Derry. As the result of carefully laid plans a number of prison warders were overpowered while men on the outside attempted to storm the jail. Two warders, who also were constables, were killed with chloroform. Soldiers were rushed to the scene and fired upon the Sinn Fein sympathizers who were trying to climb the prison walls with rope ladders. The men fled in swift motor cars.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—A scathing denunciation of District Attorney Matthew Brady and his procedure with reference to witnesses in the Arbuckle case, featured the plea of Gavin McNab, chief counsel for the fat comedian of the screen, to the jury of seven men and five women to acquit his client of manslaughter. He scored the "impounding" of Zey Prevon and Alice Blake and defended Arbuckle's failure to make a statement of his side of the case until he appeared on the stand. "God help him if he had made a statement," thundered McNab. "It would have been misconstrued and twisted through the witnesses that would have been produced to testify against him. He dared not jeopardize his liberty under such conditions."

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR ELKS TO BE HELD ON SUNDAY

Impressive Ceremonies Will Take Place in Glendale Theatre in Afternoon

Presenting the most impressive program that has been given by the lodge during the past few years, the Glendale Elks club is planning to make this year's Memorial Day services larger than ever. The ceremony, which is held every twelve months for the purpose of paying honor and tribute to the members who have passed beyond, will be held next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Glendale Theatre, which was donated for the occasion by Manager William A. Howe.

The members of the club will assemble at the club house promptly at 2 o'clock, after which they will march to the theatre in a body.

Following their entrance, the house will be thrown open to the general public, it being expected by those in charge that the "Standing Room Only" sign will be hung up by the time the exercises are begun. Heretofore the hall has always been packed to capacity long before time for the opening number is presented.

Albert D. Pearce Speaker
Albert D. Pearce of this city and a past exalted ruler of the local organization, has been selected to deliver the principal address. Mr. Pearce's oratorical ability is known throughout Southern California and it is with keen anticipation that hundreds of Glendale folk are planning to attend Sunday's ceremonies.

During the past few years he has delivered a number of similar addresses to various outside lodges.

One of the soloists of the musical program, which is by far the best that has ever been arranged by the Glendale B. P. O. E.'s will be Miss Tenie Sheehan, celebrated dramatic mezzo soprano and former soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Others on the program will be E. C. Heintz, formerly tenor in the New Orleans Choral Symphony, New Orleans Orpheus Quartette and (Continued on Page 19)

City will attend to his entertainment. It is the special request of the committees along the way that crowds stand at a distance from the Marshal, not that he would refuse a greeting to anyone, but it is stated that the trip is a severe strain on this famous warrior and every handshake or additional personal greeting taxes his strength.

The greatest ovation ever tendered a foreign visitor was given Marshal Foch October 28, when the Allied Commander reached New York en route to the American Legion convention in Kansas City, which also was attended by Generalissimo Armando Vittorio Diaz of Italy; Sir David Beatty, First Sea Lord of Great Britain; Lieutenant-General Alfonso Jaques, commander-in-chief of the Belgian army, and General Pershing. The convention elected Hanford MacNider, who had risen from a lieutenant to lieutenant-colonel while fighting overseas, to be their national commander.

It is hoped that when the complete returns are in that the proceeds will come up to $200.

The members of the guild are planning to have a new carpet in place in the church by Christmas time. The next meeting of the guild will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the guild hall at the church. A delicious luncheon was served at 4 o'clock. Education Is Great Need, Says This Glendale Woman

By MRS. CHARLES H. TOLL
For a long time the United States has "pointed with pride" to her "little red school-house," a symbol of the open door to education for all the youth of the land. Came the great war with its tragedies and horrors, leaving the world stunned with its results. When we began to try to recover our normal mode of life, we realized that we were not as we had been before—that we could not, at least for a long time, quite recover our former complacency. We had learned, for one thing, that, in spite of our boasted free school system and our self-satisfied talk about equal opportunities for all, we had registered appalling illiteracy; not among our under citizens alone, but to an astoundingly large percentage among the youth of the land.

With this knowledge, and with its reaction, came the influx of great numbers of young men and women into our higher institutions of learning, until now we continually hear of the insufficiency of accommodations for those who would seek higher education.

But we are not yet satisfied, nor shall we be so until greater opportunities are within the reach of all who would seek them; and, surely, not until we have become a literate nation; that is, until all born on our soil shall have received at least a rudimentary education.

For we know that "Ignorance is the curse of God. Knowledge the wings wherewith we fly to Heaven."

Improvement Club's Members Hear Claims for School's Sites

At the regular meeting of the Southern Improvement club, which was held last night in the branch library building on South Brand boulevard, Stuart M. Street presiding, representatives favoring both of the proposed high school sites were present and spoke of the desirability of their particular site. J. R. Grey, Alexander Mitchell and others were present representing the west side, and J. C. Sherer, W. D. Root and others representing the east side. The Southern Glendale Improvement club, however, has taken no definite stand on either side of the question. The matter of an equitable manner of providing funds for garbage collection was also discussed, and it was suggested that a joint meeting of the various improvement associations throughout the city be held to take up this question.

A third game will probably be staged in the near future.

Health Conditions in Glendale Are Good, So Reports Show

No children have been sent home from the Glendale Union High school on account of illness, according to a statement this morning by Principal George U. Moyse, who said that a few were absent on account of the illness of others in their family. He has received the following communication from Dr. J. E. Eckles, public health officer:
"Inasmuch as diphtheria and scarlet fever are epidemic in California and several cases of each have occurred recently in Glendale, acting upon advice from the state board of health, we find it necessary to issue
the following orders:
"First, That the rule requiring all children to secure health certificates from the health department before returning to school no matter what the ailment may be or condition of child or reason for non-attendance, which was recently modified, is now hereby declared once more in force from this date, and all children who have been absent five or more days must, before returning to school, secure from the health department a certificate permitting them to return.
"Second—All children showing any signs whatever of sore throat and temperature shall be at once excluded from school and report of such exclusion sent to the local health department, preferably by telephone, and should the condition be the matter of a sore throat that they be instructed that they may have their family physician attend to the care and culture of the throat or, upon notification, a nurse will be sent out who will perform this office without charge to the family. That the child is not to be permitted to return to school until a negative culture from the throat has been secured so that there may be no danger of diphtheritic infection spreading if possible to prevent it.
"We trust that the usual promptness and cordial good-will in response to the orders from this department which has been shown in the past will be more than manifest in this case as a real emergency exists and it is necessary that we all do our best to prevent a further spread of the condition."

Canvass of Votes

The canvass of votes cast at the election held in Laurel avenue district on the proposition of annexation to the city of Glendale on November 29, 1921, was taken up at this time. The mayor appointed Councilman Lapham, Davis and Kimlin to canvass the returns, the committee having completed the canvass, its findings were embodied in the following resolution adopted on motion of Councilman Lapham, as follows, by roll call:

"Whereas, on the 29th day of November, 1921, a special election was held in the territory hereinafter referred to and described in ordinance No. 497, passed by the council of the city of Glendale on the 27th day of October, 1921, as Laurel avenue district, at which the proposition of annexing said territory to the city of Glendale was submitted to the qualified electors of said territory and voted upon, and the returns of said election have now been presented to and canvassed by this council;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, by the council of the city of Glendale that from said returns and as a result of the canvassing thereof, the result of said election is as follows:

"The whole number of votes cast at said election in said territory was 77.

"The proposition voted upon at said election was 'Shall Laurel avenue district be annexed to the city of Glendale?'

"The number of votes cast at Laurel avenue district election precinct comprising the whole of said territory in favor of said proposition was 45.

"The number of votes cast at Laurel avenue district election precinct comprising the whole of said territory against said proposition was 32.

avenue wings which will have nine storerooms on the former thoroughfare and seven on the latter, making a total of seventeen storerooms, including the "island."

Also Large Garage

In the basement under the lobby will be located the heating plant, storage rooms, etc., while the dead space to the rear of the first two floors will be occupied by a garage with ramps to run the cars into position.

Main stairways and elevators will lead from the lobby to the upper floor, the mezzanine to have writing rooms and parlors. On the second floor there will be guest suites and single rooms with open air palm courts, an effect seldom seen in hotel construction. A total of 345 rooms, practically all with private baths, will occupy the five upper floors. Many will be arranged to open into suites with private parlors although there will be public parlors on every floor.

Spacious Dining Hall

The second floor will have a spacious dining hall, private dining rooms and kitchen located between the Broadway and Glendale avenue wings. The third floor above the culinary department will be used for a concert hall.

Floor plans for the Ambrosini take the shape of an arrowhead, an architectural idea which gives quiet and freedom to the guests that otherwise could not be obtained. Possibly there is no other site in Southern California so peculiarly fitted for hotel purposes as that at the Broadway and Glendale avenue.

It is Mr. Ambrosini's intention to have the construction of fireproof material throughout and all modern heating appliances and latest hotel appointments installed. It is being hinted that he is dealing with some of the largest hotel men in Southern California to take over the operation of this mammoth plant in conjunction with two hostilities they conduct successfully in the heart of Los Angeles.

Again, it is the architect's assurance that the maximum of space for stores, garage, etc., is being obtained with the minimum construction. The same is true regarding the guest rooms while the dining room and concert hall will permit of economic construction because of their location to the rear.

It is estimated that the building will cost more than $300,000 and the total investment should represent not less than a half million of dollars.

Poverty has hit the historic Latin

VISITING DAY FOR SCHOOL

Visiting day was observed yesterday by five groups of two each from the ten members of the Glendale Union High School Student Body Cabinet. Each group visited a different institution in the vicinity. The high schools at Long Beach and Pasadena were inspected as well as three large Los Angeles high schools, Manual Arts, Hollywood and Los Angeles high. The members of the cabinet are: Miss Dorothy Cotton, Miss Dorothy Peart, Miss Kathleen Campbell, Miss Lucy Strother, Miss Doris Packard, Miss Fern Peters, Paul Hutchinson, George Jordan, Dale Wood and Fred Terzo.

Telephone Cable Line that climbs mountains

In the construction of the Philadelphia to Pittsburgh cable, just opened for traffic, telephone engineers have achieved one of the most notable feats in the history of the art. Over mountains, through forests, across rivers, often far from railroads and at times out of reach even of a highway, they have carried enormous quantities of equipment and material and have extended to a total length of 620 miles the cable line which has been in operation for some time between Boston and Philadelphia, making it longer than the Boston-Washington cable which heretofore has been the longest in the world.

While telephone cables for the handling of long distance messages were first introduced as a means of insuring the service against interruption by sleet and wind storms and other unfavorable storm conditions, the number of telephone messages which the companies are now called upon to handle is becoming so vast that cable circuits are being introduced because of the difficulty of constructing more open wire poles. Throughout the regions between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, the heavy telephone traffic and the rugged character of the country have combined to make the new telephone cable necessary. This new cable contains nearly 300 telephone circuits and 200 telegraph circuits and these circuits if strung in the form of open wire would require eight full pole lines to support them. The very great saving introduced by the cable is apparent from the fact that the 500 cable circuits are all contained in a single lead sheath less than three inches in diameter.

The present cable forms a link in a much longer installation contemplated by the Bell system engineers, which will extend from Boston to Chicago and will serve the many large intermediate cities along its route as well. The telephone traffic in the region along the route of the cable has grown very rapidly in the past and all indications are that this growth will continue for many years to come. This growth, it is expected, will be so rapid that the traffic entering and leaving Pittsburgh which now requires 175 long distance circuits connecting the cities through which the cable passes, will increase so as to require upwards of 350 circuits less than a dozen years hence. Engineering studies of the most diverse and far-reaching sort have been involved in estimating the future long distance telephone requirements of these important cities and in planning the cable with all its associated apparatus giving to each of the many types of circuits the proper grade of transmission to render the best and most economical service.

One of the most important accessories to the operation of the long telephone cable is an amplifier for relaying and magnifying the telephone currents at regular intervals. These amplifiers, or telephone repeaters, are also used on long open wire circuits such as the transcontinental circuit, but while they occur at intervals of between 250 and 500 miles on the open wire circuits, they are required every fifty miles in cables. Each telephone repeater magnifies the energy of the telephone current many hundreds of times, yet truthfully preserves, in every detail, the myriad of complex variations of this current.

The total weight of the cable between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh is over 4000 tons and the splicing together of the 2000 sections in which the cable was manufactured has consumed over 20 tons of solder, 15 tons of paraffine and about 7000 square yards of muslin. If the wires within the cables were joined end to end they would measure 170,000 miles in length and reach around the earth at the equator about seven times.

FISHERMAN GETS A SUIT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 2.—C. O. Heilman was restless about 3 o'clock on a recent morning. As he rolled and tossed from one side to the other he awoke from his dream to gaze at a fishing pole protruding through his window. Before Heilman was sufficiently awake to realize what was transpiring the fishing pole was dangling a line over his coat, trousers and vest. Then the fisherman "yanked" and presto the clothes had disappeared. Heilman admits the fisherman made a catch of his best Sunday suit.

BIG GAINS IN AUTOMOBILES

REGINA, Sask., Dec. 2.—"The best barometer to farm expansion and prosperity," said C. J. Yorath, "is the sale figures on automobiles." There are 61,000 automobiles in the province, a gain of 5000 in a year. In 1908 there were only seventy-four. The gain in the entire west, which is being transformed by the settler's plow, is 500 per cent in seven years.

'SAWING THROUGH A WOMAN' FEATURE

T. D. & L. BILL

'Bloodless Surgery' Is Well
Displayed in Attraction
Tonight and Tomorrow

That sensation of the twentieth century, "Sawing Through a Woman" is coming to the T. D. & L. Theatre today and tomorrow. Wherever this wonderful illusion has been presented it has proven a marvelous exhibition of bloodless surgery. Vivisection in its most modern form is performed with perfect nonchalance by Walters and his company who have come to this country recently from Europe, where they presented this novelty before coming to the United States. Young women who are tired of living are invited to be present at Mr. Walters' exhibition.

Also on the vaudeville bill is Napoleon the ape, the same you have all seen in the movies. By all means don't miss seeing him in his vaudeville act. He does everything but talk, it is promised.

Ed. Hastings, the joy boy, is a comedy juggler of unusual ability who has several tricks up his sleeve to amuse his audience. The sunshine folks, Kelly and Rowe, late arrivals from Toonerville, have a very clever offering, and the feature photoplay for today and tomorrow is "Not Guilty," a big, colorful picture filled with enough drama to make several ordinary pictures in which Sylvia Breamer and Richard Dix portray the leading roles.

Picture Is 'Not Guilty'
"Not Guilty," the photoplay which is coming to the screen of the T. D. & L. Theatre today and tomorrow, is arousing interest among patrons of that house because many have read Harold MacGrath's thrilling novel, "Parrot & Company," from which it is adapted. The plot is an unusual one and involves twin brothers who love the same woman and who, strange to relate, are both loved by her. One of the brothers commits a crime, turns out to be a murderer and his twin changes identity with the guilty brother. Then events follow in rapid sequence. The innocent brother self-exiled goes to India, the land of "brilliant days and purple nights" where the love, the life, the lure of the tropical east soothe the hopes and the hearts of the civilized west. Then by coincidence the girl visits India. But the path of true love, which never did run true, winds through a veritable jungle of tense situations to an amazing climax.

Plant Hardy Trees in Western Canada

ESTEVAN, Sask., Dec. 2.—Tree planting on a gigantic scale is in progress in western Canada. Nurseries are providing millions of seedlings for transplanting around farm houses and along the roads of the prairie provinces. One nursery near here, which covers 400 acres, grew 3,000,000 Caragana seedlings this year in addition to several million Manitoba maples and Russian poplars.

When the success of tree planting in the prairie provinces became apparent other districts began deluging the nurseries with orders. So the prairie provinces started an exporting business. A nursery established only a few years ago for the purpose of having the sky line of the fertile stretches being settled by farmers, today is furnishing stock to nurseries of British Columbia and Ontario and in the last year sent to the United States 140,000 Caragana and 80,000 Manitoba maple seedlings. It is also shipping large orders as far north as the Peace river country. A beautiful new hedge shrub, the Russian olive, has been developed, and is gaining popularity in the east.

Trees to beautify the landscape are not the only varieties grown. Experts have evolved trees of a hardy type such as apples, pears, cherries and other small fruits. Production on these trees is heavy and they are in sharp demand in various parts of the prairie provinces.

LET JACK FROST DECIDE

RITTMAN, Ohio.—After discussing how much of top and bottom should be displayed and at what age school girls should be permitted to wear rolled stockings, the members of the Rittman Board of Education, by vote, decided to leave the controversy to coming cold weather and to women to be elected as board members.

SPEAKING OF HARD LUCK

COLUMBUS—During the more than fifty years spent by Robert Williams, seventy-four, as a puddler in steel mills, he escaped serious injury despite the fact that he handled many tons of molten metal. Hospital physicians stated amputation may be necessary as a result of Williams dropping a teakettleful of boiling water on his feet.

A new test for gold has been perfected by the United States Bureau of Standards. Electric sparks jumping from one bar of gold to another are photographed through a diffraction grating revealing minute quantities of baser metals.

San Francisco high school girls voted nine to one against silk stockings, fancy frocks, transparent dresses and pyramid hair dressing. Cotton stockings, middie blouses and wash dresses will be substituted.

Tax Revision Sale

Demonstrators and Used Cars

The expected revision of the income tax law makes it advisable for us to dispose of all of our slightly used demonstrators and second hand cars during December.

Prices have been sharply reduced from an already low level. Some of the demonstrators have been run less than 500 miles but are quoted, at, or near, our wholesale factory cost.

The prices on our second hand cars have been very low, which accounts for the large number we have been selling. During the month of December we will make the prices so attractive that the entire stock will be moved.

It costs nothing to investigate. Do it NOW.

An early call will insure a wider range of choice.

STUDEBAKER DISTRIBUTOR FOR SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

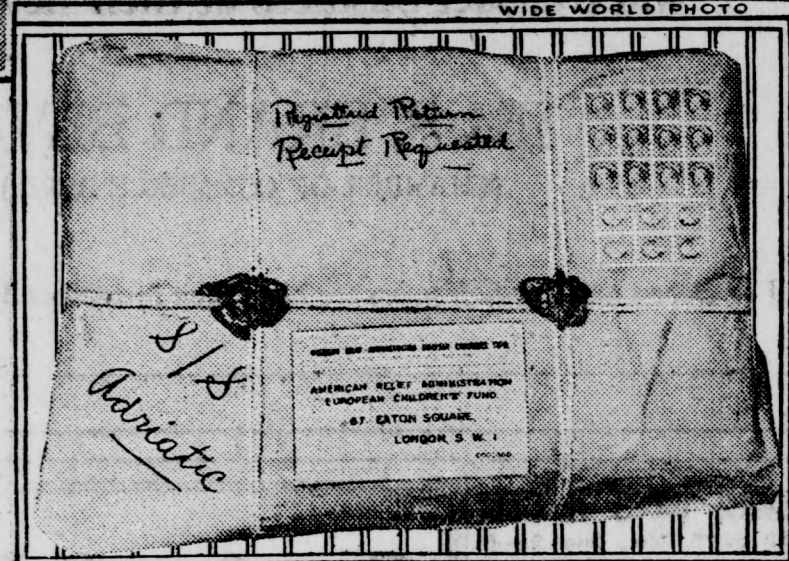

FOOD REMITTANCES, INSTITUTED BY HOOVER, SAVE MANY RUSSIAN FAMILIES FROM DEATH BY FAMINE

The package shown at the right means life to 800 Russian families like this one, consisting of father, mother and eight children, which the photographer snapped as they were in flight from their home in the heart of the famine zone. The smiles on the faces of the youngsters are due to the fact that the cameraman found some white rolls in his satchel and passed them out before he posed the refugees alongside the road.

Tens of thousands of the inhabitants of the vast territory swept by drought are fleeing, they know not where, in search of something to eat. The total population of the famine area is about 15,000,000, according to Col. William N. Haskell, director of the American Relief Administration's Mission to Russia, while as many more inhabit the food shortage belt and are rapidly nearing a state of starvation.

That's where the package in the picture comes in. When the American Relief Administration discovered that its free mass feeding of 1,200,000 Russian children this winter would not even take care of half of the little sufferers, not taking the grown-ups into consideration at all, Herbert Hoover, chairman of the organization, broached to the soviet authorities the feasibility of instituting a food remittance system whereby friends and relatives residing in America could purchase for adult famine victims at an expenditure of from $10 to $50, a maximum quantity of the most highly nutritive tional food and receive assurance that it would be delivered to the adult persons they designated in Russia. The soviet authorities gave their approval and for several weeks remittances have been going forward. The package pictured above comprised the first $800 $10 remittance forwarded from New York on the Adriatic. They were dispatched from the A. R. A. offices in London by courier to Moscow and from there distributed among the warehouses, all stocked with foodstuffs, near the homes of the recipients. The warehouse notifies the adult in whose favor the remittance is drawn to come and get the food. He receives flour, condensed milk, beans, rice, hominy, cooking fats, sugar, tea or cocoa, and soup. No one could possibly purchase in the United States at retail and send to Russia anything like the quantity of food that is delivered by the food remittance plan. Besides that, the American Relief Administration assumes all the risk from the time the food remittance is purchased in America until the food is delivered to the adult recipient at a warehouse in Russia.

Applications to purchase food remittances may be made in person or by mail to the Russian department American Relief Administration, 42 Broadway, New York City. The applicant receives a blank which he must fill out according to instructions and return to the A. R. A. with a money order. Remittances may be purchased in units of $10 up to $50 for delivery to individuals, and up to $500 for delivery to recognized groups and institutions.

GLENDALE TO GIVE SPECIAL PROGRAM IN VAUDEVILLE

Friday Night Acts Will Be Inaugurated; Picture Is a Big Screen Feature

A special program will be presented tonight at the Glendale Theatre inaugurating the first of the Friday vaudeville shows coming over the Bert Levey coast-to-coast service including five feature acts and "The Son of Wallingford," the big feature picture. The latter will be shown only once at 8:30 o'clock, while the vaudeville will go on at 7 and 10. A capacity crowd is expected.

Edward Marshall, the well-known "Chalkologist," heads the vaudeville bill. He comes here directly from the Orpheum Circuit, where he has appeared with great success. Inter-mingling some fast comedy patter with his work in chalk, his present vehicle should be a big hit.

Agnes Johns & Co. rendering "The Unexpected Witness" present a clever comedy playlet, crammed with action and brimfull of laughable situations. Al Hallett assists Miss Johns.

Songs and Dances
Walters & Van Halteran, "The Sunshine Folks," in a melange of songs and dances of the musical comedy type, should add quality to this bill. Del Costa, the popular singer, and the Four Harmonies round out the program with the music Glendale likes to hear. A complete change of vaudeville and pictures will be made for Saturday.

The entire city of Whittier was turned over to the Vitagraph players for ten days during the filming of "The Son of Wallingford," which will be shown at the Glendale Theatre for the last times today. During this time the entire populace of the city participated in a big pageant which forms an important part and makes a spectacular scene in the production. It was a glorious gala day in the city when the big pageant was staged. Everyone quit work to watch the players. The Chamber of Commerce, banks, police and newspapers gave every co-operation.

FAMOUS OLD TREES TO GO

DEFIANCE—The last of five red locust trees on the grounds around the local public library, said to have grown within the walls of General Mad Anthony Wayne's fort, was partly blown down by wind. Attorney E. H. Sutphen asked permission to make an effort to save a branch, still standing, at his own expense. If the effort fails the tree will be distributed as fuel among needy families by the Defiance Welfare league.

The remains of "John Daniel," the gorilla that recently died in America, are being studied by scientists. Casts of the head and face have been made, finger prints have been taken and the brain and body are being dissected by specialists.

Possible to Disarm on Big Scale, Is Claimed

COLUMBUS, O.—"I differ with President Harding when he says that disarmament on a large scale is a matter of changing human nature," said Dr. Irving Maurer, pastor of First Congregational church, addressing a local audience.

"I feel that disarmament on a large scale is possible now, if we only can see what unlimited armament involves," he continued. "One price we must pay for disarmament is the elimination of party politics from international disputes. It is inevitable; if we are to have rest from building $50,000,000 battleships we must have an association of nations. The more nations we can get into that association the safer we will be."

"Another cost of disarmament must be a withdrawal from isolation on the part of America. We admit the need of such withdrawal or we would not have called a disarmament conference. We want nothing to do with Europe, but we do not hesitate to mingle in the affairs of the far east. The far east is not our only problem. We are learning that 'hands off' may keep us out of the league, but it does not keep us out of economic disaster."

"We may wish nothing to do with Europe, but we find that until European business gets on its feet our own will not prosper. Another European war will mean another war for us, and all of our hiding our heads in the sand won't keep us safe."

"The government of the United States must, also keep her treaties in good faith. If the armament conference is to accomplish anything," insisted Rev. Maurer, who said the repeal of the canal tolls on American ships is a lamentable example of unfaithfulness to treaty.

IT'S SOME BANK ACCOUNT

SAVANNAH, Ga. — Twenty-nine years ago Miss Maude Quinn, of Jacksonville, Fla., had a savings account of $1 started by her mother in the Savannah Savings bank while the family lived here. A letter recently addressed to the bank came into the hands of Charles Rockwell, a former treasurer of the institution, long since defunct, asking what the dollar had earned. It had earned seventeen cents, according to Mr. Rockwell, and he advised the young lady the account still stood on the books now in his possession.

HE BUILT HIS OWN COFFIN

LOS ANGELES—After reposing in a barn for seven years a white cedar coffin, which was fashioned by his own hands and shown to many of his friends who visited him in his declining years, was used to bury David Myers, who died here recently. Myers, who was sixty-eight, was once a student in the district schools of Ohio under President Garfield, when the statesman was an educator.

LONDON PAPERS LOSING

LONDON—"There is not a single newspaper in London today that is making a profit, and there is certainly not a paper mill making a profit," declared Lord Burnham, the owner of the Daily Telegraph, at a meeting in the London Mansion House.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR FLOAT FUND NOW BEING RECEIVED

Send Money to Chamber of Commerce, General Plea Made to Local Public

Money is needed to finance the float Glendale will enter in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena on January 2.

Securing of a proper fund to make a creditable display is now interesting the Glendale Chamber of Commerce committee in charge.

For two years this city has taken first prize in its division. The same people are in charge of the float's decoration. Almost everybody is willing to bet on a winner. Will you back them in this endeavor?

If so, make your checks payable to J. M. Rhoades, treasurer, float committee, Chamber of Commerce—or take the cash contributions to Mr. Rhoades' office in the Citizens' building, 150 South Brand boulevard.

Entry blanks for the 1922 Tournament of Roses parade will be obtainable at Tournament of Roses headquarters by or before December 10. These blanks will give full information as to the classes in the big floral pageant. Chairman B. O. Kendall of the Tournament of Roses parade committee made this announcement today.

More handsome silver and gold trophies have been offered so far this time than on any similar date in the long history of the parade, says Chairman Kendall. The prizes this time will be the finest which have ever been offered for competition in the annual pageant.

Expect to Break Record

The parade record was set on January 1, 1921, when more than 100 notable entries were reviewed by some 300,000 people. It is expected that the parade this time will be even larger and more elaborate than the one a year ago.

Special arrangement is being made this year to provide additional parking space for those who come to Pasadena by auto to witness the parade. A corps of workmen are already at work putting the great grandstands in shape for the annual "East and West" football game. This is expected to be the last of these football classics to be played at Tournament park as it is hoped and expected that the great, new stadium will be finished in time for the game on January 1, 1923.

The football stands at Tournament park will seat practically as many persons this time as last when over 45,000 witnessed the game between Ohio State and California.

Military tanks were used in England to check heath fires this summer. All efforts to check heath fire flames near Aldershot failed until a detachment of tanks, with water and chemicals, cleared the way for the fire fighters who followed through.

Inexpensive Christmas gifts for men

In one sense, you'd find that a Hart Schaffner & Marx suit or overcoat would be the most inexpensive gift you could find. The long service and satisfaction he would get would make it so.

But there are so many smaller things, that cost less, and are just as good value for the price, that you're sure to find something to satisfy your purse and the man's taste in our fine stock. We are here to help you, not simply sell you something.

Here are a few suggestions:

Manhattan Shirts
Madras, Silk

Hats—the latest soft shapes; caps.

Gloves for driving or for dress; cape buck, mocha.

Neckwear—in fine heavy silks; silk knits, too.

House robes, underwear, hosiery, sweater coats, pajamas—everything a man needs and wears.

If in doubt, give him a gift certificate

PLANTERS IMPORT BUGS

HONOLULU, T. H.—His full name is Cryterrhinus Mundulus, but they call him Cy for short. He's only a bug, but he was brought here all the way from Queensland by the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association for the purpose of preying upon and if possible exterminating the leaf hopper which was formerly such a menace to the sugar cane crop. Cy has made good, too, thereby justifying his costly importation.

MARRIED BUT STILL INFANT

WOOSTER—Although she was married to Clarence Mowrer on January 13, 1918, nearly four years ago, Mrs. Mabel McGregor Mowrer is still "an infant" in the eyes of the law. Her petition for divorce was filed by her mother. Mrs. Mowrer is still under eighteen years of age. She was married when she had just passed her fourteenth birthday.

ALL-CENTRAL TEAM IS SELECTED BY SPORTS WRITER

Glendale Evening News Man
Looks Them Over, Then Picks Out Eleven Stars

By HOWARD M. M'GILLIS
Sporting Editor The Evening News
In these days of gridiron post mortems, "ifs," "coulds" and "what might have been if the game had lasted another quarter" it seems only proper that someone should become mythologically inclined long enough to take the blame for the selection of an all-Central league football team. This herculean task was undertaken only after looking at the lists of all-star aggregations that have been picked by so-called experts in this section and throughout the country, said selections containing so many contradictions and "bum guesses" that we can feel as though we have attained a complete success in the art of choosing if but two of our choices are agreed upon by critics.

However, here is the eleven, which has been picked from the cream of the seven teams of the league after a lengthy and seemingly "impossible" consideration:
Full—Bronson, Monrovia.
Halves—Buck, South Pasadena, and Ed Shaw, Monrovia.
Quarter—Meiklejohn, Covina.
Ends—Wilson, Glendale, and A. Caffey, Covina.
Tackles—Dutcher, Glendale (captain), and Wright, Citrus.
Guards—Bortell, Monrovia, and Hawkins, Franklin.
Center—Hood, South Pasadena.
Honorable mention—Hall of Citrus (fullback), and Urnstom of South Pasadena (tackle).

The fullback berth is given to Bronson of Monrovia due to the fact that he was probably the most versatile man in the league. A bear at carrying the ball, both through the line and around the ends, he performed equally as well when passing, running interference, breaking up opponents' plays and punting, an all-Central squad could hardly be selected without his name on it. Had "Big Jim" Hall of Citrus been eligible to play all season he would have made Bronson hustle for the coveted berth, as the former Long Beach star has been one of the sensations of the south during the past two seasons.

Ed Shaw Easily First
Ed Shaw, Monrovia's dusky half-mile champion and all-around athlete, is easily the first choice for halfback, his work in every contest this year having a direct bearing on Monrovia's victory. Many have spoken of him as "the Monrovia team," of which he is, without a doubt, a large part.

The other halfback position was the most difficult to fill of the entire team. Buck of South Pasadena, Stofft of Glendale, Lee of Franklin and Chenoweth of Citrus being so evenly matched that it was almost a matter of flipping a coin. However, the uncanny ability of the South Pasadena star to hurl accurate forward passes in addition to his consistent ball-carrying qualities gives him a slight edge.

The signal caller's job was unquestionably given to Meiklejohn of Covina on account of his excellent judgment in handling his team on the field. Invariably crossing the opposition with a clever mixup of plays and formations he always seemed to use the right play at the logical time. He was also no slouch at advancing the ball.

Cecil Wilson Stars
On the flanks, Cecil Wilson of Coach Hayhurst's squad is the sensation of the season, his work both on offense and defense being head and shoulders above that of any other end in the circuit. Especially was he adept at running interference, his skill in boxing rival pugilists resulting in many gains for his team. Playing on the opposite end with Wilson we would have "Shorty" Caffey, Covina's phenomenal baseball pitcher. Exceptionally fast on his feet, Caffey was poison to the safety men of rival teams, going down the field on punts with remarkable speed and regularity.

The other Glendale man to attain a place on the mythical aggregation is none other than Atwood Dutcher the 180-pound line wrecker who outshone his opponents in every contest of the season. On the offense he would repeatedly rip wide gaps in the opposing line, while he was just as good on the defense.

In spite of his weight he was one of the speediest men on the squad, going down on every punt and often beating his ends. He is chosen as captain of the eleven on account of the faultless manner in which he led the local team.

Wright, Citrus' star lineman, is chosen as "Dutch's" running mate due to his consistent performances throughout the season. At the guard positions Bortell of the Monrovia champions is paired with "Pat" Hawkins of Franklin, both being better by far than any of their rivals in the center of the line. Last, but not least, comes "Robin" Hood, the sterling South Pasadena center. Hood was the most accurate passer in the circuit besides being a star of the first magnitude while on the defense. His ability at charging was responsible for numerous line plunging gains for the Tigers in almost every game.

Following is the second choice, or in other words, the consolation team: Full—Olmstead, Citrus.
Halves—Stofft, Glendale, and Lee, Franklin.

Quarter—Green.
Ends—Jones, Monrovia, and Teachout, Franklin.
Tackles—Hagenback, Covina, and Ham, Alhambra.
Guards—Fraley, Glendale, and Alexander, South Pasadena.
Center—Gilmore, Monrovia.

Plan to Establish Rest Camp for Men From Camp Benning

PANAMA CITY, Fla., Dec. 2.—A soldiers' rest camp, where 400 men and twenty officers may be stationed at the same time, will be established at a point on the bay, in Bay county. The soldiers who will enjoy this camp will be from Camp Benning, and the requisites which General Gordon, the commanding officer of Benning, have imposed on Panama City will all be met by the people of this place.

Substantially they are as follows: Donation of a free site of not less than 1,600 feet on the water front, the supplying of the same with water for drinking and cooking purposes; sewerage, and the erection of two houses, to be used by the cooks of the divisions to be sent there from time to time to. All these demands on the part of the army division referred to were confided to Mayor-elect Alfred Tyler, and he carried the same back to the people, who at once decided to meet the requirements.

Colonel Drake was the first to visit this section with a party of officers and families, and they were impressed with the idea of a soldier rest camp. The idea was later placed before the commander of Camp Benning, and further investigations followed, with the result that it is practically certain the rest camp will be established.

The army officers assert that the plan is to send 400 men and twenty officers to the camp for tentative rest periods, and for four months in the year make use of the site. Squads of officers and men will be sent there, and after a certain time they will be displaced by others from Camp Benning in like number.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Some weeks ago, writing from New York, Franklin B. Morse announced that none of the big college teams of the east would take the trip to the Pacific coast for the January first game at Pasadena. Morse's prognostication on this matter is now being verified by the refusal of Yale, Cornell and Center to play out here. At the present writing Notre Dame, a middle western team, looks to be the only one who might consider a game at Pasadena, though they have already refused to play the Pacific fleet team at San Francisco owing to the fact that "it is not a college team."

Now, the question arises, will the University of California play Notre Dame? It has been unofficially stated that California did not care to play Notre Dame. While the Notre dame team is considered one of the best in the middle west and east this year, it is nevertheless the same sentimental opponent for a coast college as Yale, Harvard, Penn or Princeton and it is teams from these colleges that Andy Smith's boys want to play. Nothing definite is to be gained by playing Notre Dame, while a defeat by Notre Dame would do more damage to the California prestige than, say a defeat by Yale, Harvard or Princeton, notwithstanding the fact that all of these three teams have been beaten in their own backyards. It would seem that the Tournament of Roses committee is having a harder time this year to get an opponent for California than in any previous year. Is this year's hard time to get a team predicative of even still greater trouble to get eastern college teams out here for the future years? January is not a football month. That is definite and positive, and while some of the smaller college teams would unquestionably always be willing to get a free Pullman trip across the country and play a game, yet it is not these small teams that are an attractive proposition to the Pacific coast conference champion team.

Another thing that has helped to gum up the works this year have been the attempts of other cities to get teams from the east to play this or that coast team. In the east this battling to get several eastern teams to this coast savor of the "professional promoters" stand, and in this matter no college in the country with self-respect will lend itself, nor allow its football or any other team to be a tool for a money-making proposition.

It will come to the point where an East vs. West match must be arranged by the colleges themselves without any outside promotion. When that comes about the matches will be played in the regular football season and not as a post-season game. Such an arrangement as this will do football far more good than the present scramble project of getting a team out here at least a month and a half after the season has been closed.

Shall Bear Eleven Meet Centre Before Tournament Tussle?

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 2.—Shall the California Bears, wonder team of the west, attempt a clean sweep of American football honors by meeting Centre college, the famous "praying Colonels," in San Diego and a few days later contest with Iowa or Notre Dame at Pasadena? That is the question agitating coast sports circles, and it was admitted here that Graduate Manager Nichols of the Bears has that ambitious program in mind.

The answer is up in the air, and apparently is due principally to the delay in clinching the Mississippi valley champs for the Pasadena game. Until the Tournament of Roses definitely secures an eastern contestant, Mr. Nichols will hold his decision in abeyance, it was said, and in the meantime will canvass the situation thoroughly. Nichols inspected the San Diego stadium yesterday and announced himself as highly pleased with the oval, which seats 40,000. After a lengthy conference with President Gould of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce and others of the local football committee he left San Diego accompanied by Mr. Gould for Los Angeles, where it is understood they will meet the Pasadena promoters today.

the life will mark the beginning of that athlete's decline. The fact that Babe Ruth now is vaudevillian is no exception to the rule and there are already a lot of the fans predicting that the home run champion is going to fall far below his mark of last season as the result of late hours and the irregular life attendant on his present line of activity. As a matter of fact, Ruth has set a record that, a couple of years ago, was believed to be unattainable and he might fall below it next season even if he were most punctilious in his methods of living. However, it would furnish an army of wiseacres with the opportunity of saying, "I told you so."

Persons who are possessed of the idea that because of the automobile all interest has ceased in connection with the horse, need only to have attended the recent National Horse Show in New York to have the supposition dispelled. The horse will never cease to be associated in the various sports such as polo, racing and the pleasure that comes of riding for exercise and the incidental shaking up of a torpid liver. It is questionable if, even in the days prior to the advent of the automobile, more attention could have been paid to the equine friend of man. As a matter of fact, horse breeders' associations and other like organizations which are in a position to keep tab on things, tell us that the demand for horses is on the increase with a subsequent increase in breeding activity.

King Wore Patched Shoe for 'Comfort'

LONDON, Dec. 2.—"When he is out of the public eye His Majesty often sacrifices personal appearance for comfort. Indeed, when in conversation with him some time ago I noticed that one of the shoes he wore was adorned with a patch."

This is one of the many interesting anecdotes of his long connection with the British royal family told by Mr. Ernest Brooks, who is the accredited royal photographer. It was Brooks who accompanied the Prince of Wales on his colonial tour, and he relates that while on board H. M. S. Renown, he took a portrait of the Prince of Wales in his bath, which was published in the London newspapers. Some time later the Prince sent for him and in a "very kindly way explained that the King had objected to its publication and had considered it an indiscretion on my part."

The following story gives some idea as to the King's tastes in regard to feminine fashions. Mr. Brooks was ordered to take a photograph of Princess Mary. When shown the negative His Majesty raised an objection to the width of the panniers on either side of the Princess's frock and ordered him to take them out of the negative, commenting that he considered that they were too wide and were not his idea of feminine wear.

Mission Nine to Use Civic Auditorium

The Missions expect to get into the final three-game series for the $2000 purse and Heilmann wants his men in the best of shape.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

News from Australia to the effect that Jimmy Clabby was made a punching bag of and knocked out in the fifteenth round by Frank Burns, the new middleweight champion of that country, will come with a tinge of considerable sadness to the many followers of the ring game in this country. It will mark the passing of one of the cleverest boxers that ever donned the horsehair mitts and who failed of championship honors only because he did not carry a sufficient sting in his blows to put the quietus on his opponents.

Clabby shook the dust of America some years ago and since has been performing in the Antipodes where he became exceedingly popular with ring fans. It is stated that he has accumulated a very snug little fortune through his ring battles there, which have been numerous. It seems the natives never could get too much of Jimmy, so he constantly was being sought after by the promoters.

Of course, it remains to be seen whether or not Clabby was careful of his earnings. There have been many boxers who have made big money who have foolishly spent it as fast as they got it. With his recent very disastrous knockout, it seems reasonable to suppose that he will not be the money getter he was in the past, and it is more than likely that, sooner or later, he will be retracing his steps to this country, although some of his friends profess that James will cast his anchor to windward and make his future abiding place where he now is.

Whenever the name of a prominent athlete is coupled with work on the stage, there is always a sage wagging of heads and prognostications of a lugubrious nature to the effect that

LEAGUE OF NATIONS MAY HAVE RIVAL RESULT PARLEY

Arms Conference to Be Made Into Organization, Plan of U. S. Administration

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
Written for International News Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—If present plans of the administration materialize it seems certain that before the year rolls over the armament conference here, there will be a strong and healthy rival of the League of Nations in the field.

It may be called an Association of Nations, an Association for the Limitation of Armament, or a Society for the Maintenance of International Peace—anything but a "League of Nations"—and its work will be to perpetuate the agreements and decisions that are to be reached by the powers now assembled here. That its work will parallel that of the present League of Nations at Geneva in many particulars is not denied. Details of the organization which it is planned to perfect here before the statesmen return home are not yet complete. They are being worked out, however, and it is the confident expectation that by the time the conference adjourns, President Harding and his advisers will be prepared to lay before the departing statesmen a plan whereby those who took part in this conference and other peaceably inclined nations may gather each year about a common table to discuss their problems.

Plan to Invite Germany
Germany will be invited to come in and probably Russia. And certainly those countries of central and southern Europe like Jugo-Slavia, Roumania, Czechoslovakia and Greece will be asked because it is their maintenance of large standing armies that has kept Europe boiling intermittently for years.

The impelling reason for America taking the lead in this movement was said today by administration leaders to be the necessity for finding some means by which the decreased armament to be agreed upon here can be extended to include other nations.

The Washington conference went against a snag when it attempted to deal with limiting armies and it had to make a detour. France would not consent to decrease her army while the other nations of Europe maintained large standing armies. Because there was no way of reaching the other countries at this conference the entire project of limiting land armament had to be abandoned for the time being.

Little Fellows Disturbing
President Harding and his advisers believe there is no use of cutting down the armament of the "big fellows" if the "little fellows" are to be permitted to maintain establishments wholly out of proportion to their size and populations.

The scrapping and snarling of the minor nations are fully as potential of world conflict as is that of the bigger nations, the president believes. It was pointed out in this connection that it was little Serbia who applied the torch to the world world in the last conflict, and the flame inevitably drew in Russia, Germany, France, England, Japan and finally America.

The difficult part of the administration's program lies in so framing the association that it will be acceptable to the United States senate and the "Anti-League of Nations" people generally. The administration is not unmindful of the fact that a majority of 7,000,000 registered their disapproval of the Wilsonian league, only a year ago.

President Harding and his advisers hope that this obstacle can be circumvented by forming an association primarily to perpetuate the decisions relating to armament that are reached here.

Check-up Necessary
It will be pointed out there is little use of reaching an agreement for a ten-year naval holiday and a vast scarping program unless there is some means of checking up to see whether the agreement is being kept, and unless some means are adopted to prevent a resumption of competitive building at the end of the ten-year period.

The decisions that are to be reached here in Washington will be communicated to the nations of the world that are not represented here. They will be asked to take similar action and cut down their armies to police forces.

It is not likely that there will be a binding "covenant" for this new international child. President Harding and his republican colleagues have a dislike for the word. In their working out of the details they will exercise great care to keep the organization from any suspicion of "super government."

They believe that an association can be perfected which will bring the nations of the world together morally and without the binding legal things which we so disapproved in the existing league.

A Truly Beautiful Glendale Home Where Your Loved Ones Are Tenderly Cared For in Hours of Sorrow.

Nearly Everyone

—Would prefer to pay the last loving tributes to their loved ones in the privacy and home-like atmosphere of their own residence, if their home was as spacious and as conveniently arranged for such an occasion as a chapel.

—In Glendale, however, the most complete and beautiful establishment of its kind on the Pacific Coast is at the command of those in need of such service in hours of sorrow. It seems like a home—because it is a home. It is large and perfectly arranged for the handling of a perfect mortuary service.

Thousands of Barrels of Apples to Waste

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N. S.—Thousands of barrels of apples are rotting on the trees and upon the ground throughout the maritime provinces.

With the duty fixed at 30 cents a bushel, freight rates at thirty-nine cents a hundredweight and the cost of barrels at 75 cents each, the Canadian farmers rather than accept the small prices offered by American produce men are allowing most of the fruit to spoil rather than pick it from the trees.

For miles bright red and yellow fruit still clinging to the trees can be seen in the Annapolis Valley, while in the States top prices are asked for this good old pie-making material.

What is true of the apple likewise applies to the potato and turnip crops.

Potatoes can be purchased in Nova Scotia for 60 cents a bushel, and the price is still traveling downward.

Potatoes and turnips are being fed to cattle, the farmers preferring to adopt this measure of disposal rather than pay the high duty and the cost of barrels.

Irish Question, Silesian and Russian Affair and, Too, Future of Chinese

By JAMES W. GERARD
(Former Ambassador to Germany)
Written for International News Service
Copyright, 1921, International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—I fear that from the other shore no traveler returns, else the souls of the 10,000,000 who gave their lives in this last war would sweep through the council room like a mighty wind, purifying the thoughts of the delegates and driving away pettiness and selfishness. But other ghosts sit at the conference table—the grisly ghosts of the Irish question, of the Silesian question, of the question of Russia which has thrown off her shackles in murderous epilepsy. Of the new, but always beloved France, showing once more, however, in Briand's speech the never-dying fear and hatred of Germany; ghosts whose ghastly hands press the nations apart and into the old paths of mutual distrust.

If the 700 years of wrongs of the Irish could at last be righted and Ireland stand an associate of Britain and America, there would be a natural alliance of English-speaking peoples, of peoples of the same civilization and ideals, that would endure and have no more need of paper, ink or treaty seals than has the long frontier of Canada and the United States of armed sentinels and vessels of war.

Poison, Gas and Submarine
And, while all too secretly, the delegates discuss the details of naval disarmament and the questions of the far east, cannot the conference boldly face the question of dirty fighting? The use of poison gas and the pirate, deadly, sneaking submarine, which sinks merchant ships without notice and without the placing of passengers and crews in safety, as required by the laws of mercy and of war? An open lifeboat, many miles from land, on a stormy sea, cannot be considered a place of safety.

A thousand years ago an Arabian wrote of a "verity, the doings of the ancients become a lesson to those that follow after, so that men look upon the admonitory events that have happened, to take warning and come to the knowledge of what befell by-gone peoples and are restrained thereby."

In the thirteenth century the Mongolian armies of Genghis Khan and Tamerlane, forcibly enlisted the Chinese, overran Asia and threatened Europe.

Should Preserve China

Suppose that the territorial integrity of China is destroyed and an intelligent, organizing-mongol race, repeating history, recruits the Mongolian armies by forcing millions of Chinese into the ranks? Then the nations of Europe may well take warning from the former Kaiser's celebrated picture and unite, perhaps too late, to protect their firesides from the peril from the east. The great objective of the Christian nations should be to preserve China as a separate nation, or at least save it from peaceful occupation or conquest by any Mongolian Empire.

The right to trade free from boycott, to obtain raw materials from China, perhaps more, must be secured to Japan, but it is not in the interest of the peace of the world to permit Japan, an essentially military nation, to obtain the overlordship of China, and an opportunity to organize the vast hordes of that country for war—an opportunity to lead these hordes to western conquest, as in the days of Tamerlane.

Plays Military Part

The very qualities which make the Japanese people great, their talents for, and bravery in war, will make Japan a danger if given the suzerainty of China.

Briand departs, Viviani takes his place—another orator—his speech as fiery as the African sun under which he was born. He can do little now; Briand has called the tune and for this conference at least France plays a military part, unfortunately stirring up in Germany the old, discarded Prussian junker, militaristic spirit, which I and others who think we know something of that country, believed sincerely no longer actuates the majority of Germans.

Postal Employees Are Not Mind Readers; Instructions Must Be Followed Strictly

Have you done your Christmas mailing yet?

Here are a few suggestions from Acting Postmaster P. O'Brien:

Mail early and often throughout the year and prevent congestion at the postoffice. An hour's delay in mailing may mean a day's delay in delivery.

You must mail your letters and packages early if you want them delivered by Christmas. The person who mails late gets delivery late.

If you care a rap for your package, wrap it with care.

Always place your return address on all mail; then it will be returned to you or you will be notified if it is not delivered; otherwise it will be sent to the Dead Letter Office or destroyed.

Are Not Mind Readers

Postal employees are not mind readers. If they were they would not be in the postoffice; so address your mail, in all cases properly, and to street and number, or room number.

More than 10,000,000 letters were sent to the Dead Letter Office last year because the senders failed to address them to street and number.

When you send that Christmas package to your "Friend" this year be sure that it is properly wrapped, stamped, and addressed; otherwise "Friend" may not receive it.

Seventy-five per cent of delays, nondelivery, or breakage of mail matter is due to mistakes made by the mailers in either improper addressing or wrapping.

About 730,000 Christmas packages last year were never received by the addressees because they were improperly wrapped and became loose in the mails. Do not let your package be among the missing this year. Be sure to wrap and address it properly.

It is poor business to pay dollars for a present and neglect to properly wrap it because it would cost a few cents more for postage.

Registered If Valuable

If your package is valuable, it should be registered or insured; otherwise, the department will not pay any indemnity if it is lost. Registry fee, 10 cents. Insurance fees, 3, 5, 10 and 25 cents.

A Christmas present is usually valued for the sentiment it represents and not for its intrinsic value. Therefore, it is better to spend less for the article and more for wrapping and postage.

Many a person has spent an unhappy Christmas because of the failure to receive that Christmas package from a distant relative or friend because the package was not properly wrapped, addressed, or postage fully prepaid thereon.

Remember that the post office wants to help you get your packages and letters, but you must help us by complying with our instructions.

WEALTHY CONGREGATION

STOCKTON, Mo.—The six Presbyterians in this little town have so much money they don't know what to do with it. Hugh Ross, who died here recently, bequeathed $25,000 for "the construction of a Presbyterian church." Six persons, it is admitted by the members of that faith, could not use so fine a church. They contemplate merging with some other faith.

Old Saddle Maker Is Real Sport at 101

VANCOUVER, B. C.—“Dad” Quick was shaking hands with old friends at the recent race meet here and incidentally was “betting his head off.” He is said to have cleaned up neatly.

“By and by I may reform,” chuckled “Dad” Quick. “But a young man ought to be allowed his little fling at gambling.”

He was 101 years old last month. He was born in England a little too late to number George III among the kings he might have met. He emigrated to the United States about the time they put the first passenger train on the rails in England and helped Elias Howe in 1844 make the first six sewing machines the world ever saw. He fought on the side of the north through the Civil war.

He has “followed the ponies” all over the continent. He admits being a “born gambler.” He hates pari-mutuel machines, but he plays them as hard as he used to play the books because there's nothing else to play on the western tracks.

The centenarian owns a little saddlery shop on Powell street in Vancouver, and works at his bench every day. Racing saddles are his specialty and orders reach him from as far away as Brazil and Australia. “Dad” Quick's saddles are known all over the United States and Canada.

Traffic at Columbus Circle, New York City, was blocked fifteen minutes recently, when motorists and pedestrians halted on their way home to rescue a squirrel which had wandered from a park to Broadway.

PLACE HEART BEATS ON RECORD; LATER PRODUCE THEM

Even Breathing Sounds Given Reproduction; Service of Telephone Illustrated

By U. S. Press Association.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—Taking the heart beat and the breathing sounds of human beings and recording them on a steel wire which will reproduce them at later times has been the accomplishment of experts of the department of commerce, bureau of standards, at the request of and in co-operation with officers of the medical corps of the army.

Using an ordinary carbon telephone transmitter adapted into a stethoscope, the current set up by the beats and breathing were amplified and connected with a steel wire telegraphophone which has the different sounds impressed upon its spool of wire in the form of varying degrees of magnetization. By connecting this recording instrument to amplifiers and a loud-speaking telephone, the heart sounds can be heard in all parts of the room. This method of obtaining permanent records of heart beat and breathing sounds will make possible the filing away of records of normal and unusual conditions of the heart and lungs, and their use for demonstrations at clinics and university lectures is foreseen.

The methods of handling different classes of telephone traffic and of determining the current set up by the beats and breathing were explained. All the principal elements of service, such as adequacy of facilities, accuracy of speech reproduction, dependability of the plant, speed, reliability of the switching equipment, degree of safety and courtesy are treated in detail. Public relations as handled by public utility commissions are summarized. Statistically, the progress of the telephone industry is traced. In 1889 there were 34,305 miles of iron wire in the United States; in 1917 there were 28,827,183 miles of wire, mostly copper, or more than enough mileage to encircle the earth a thousand times.

Telephone Usefulness
Behind the silent telephone sitting on your desk, there are miles of wire and years of experimentation and improvement. Telephone service, inaugurated by Bell's invention when this country was just a hundred years old, has developed into an every-second necessity.

Service, as well as wires and instruments, is a fundamental of telephone utilization. A 216-page circular, entitled “Telephone Service,” just issued by the department of commerce, bureau of standards, tells in clear language the many essential components of quantity and quality of telephone service applicable to various operating systems in use in this country. In addition to a historical summary showing how the present systems evolved, there are illustrations and descriptions of the usual manually-operated or non-automatic telephone and exchanges. The three principal systems of automatic telephones which are in many cities doing away with the necessity of operators are also described. The circular also describes the wiring on poles and in conduits that connect exchanges and stations and that furnish a path for the space-eliminating waves of telephone speech to travel.

Corn As Fuel
Secretary Wallace of the department of agriculture, says that ear corn at 20 cents a bushel is equal in fuel value to a fair grade of western soft coal at approximately $10 a ton. In districts where corn is very cheap now the coal is usually of a rather poor grade and is selling at high prices. Under such conditions it will pay both farmers and people in country towns to use corn instead of coal.

“In times past, when corn was very cheap,” observes Secretary Wallace, “it has been burned as fuel in the United States, but mostly on the farms. In Argentina both corn and small grain are sometimes burned as fuel, not alone on the farms but in power plants. Undoubtedly large quantities of corn will be burned on western farms this winter unless the prices should materially advance. The farmer will find the corn much cheaper than coal, and in addition will save the cost of hauling the corn to town and hauling the coal back. People in the country towns in the sections of cheap corn will probably find it will pay them to buy ear corn for their furnaces and heating stoves unless coal should decrease considerably in price or corn should advance.”

Women's Low Pay
The women's bureau of the department of labor is accumulating a mass of material designed to show that women ordinarily have responsibilities quite equal to those of men, and that their wages ought not to be subject to discrimination. Insistence on the eight-hour day and payment of a living wage are keynotes of policy of the bureau. One of the great handicaps in its work is the existence of certain industries, which cannot or at least do not pay a living wage.

LOCAL PEOPLE HAVE NEW PENITENTIARY POEM WRITTEN IN HONOR OF HERO

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brainard of
This City Were Friends of Colonel Whittlesey

Colonel Whittlesey, commander of the famous "Lost Battalion" in the Argonne forest during the time of the Meuse-Argonne offensive, whose disappearance from abroad ship while en route to Havana, Cuba, is thought to have been suicide, was an intimate friend of Mr. and Mrs. C. H.
Brainard of 1417 East Wilson avenue, who formerly resided in Colonel Whittlesey's home town, Pittsfield, Mass.

The following poem, the first letter of each line of which spells
"Charles W. Whittlesey, Pittsfield, Mass.," was written by Mrs. M. J.
Sheridan of Pittsfield, Mass., a sister of Mrs. C. H. Brainard. In speaking of this tribute, Colonel Whittlesey said he appreciated it as much as all the honors which were conferred on him when he returned to the United States after the world war. The poem, which appeared in the New York Times, was written shortly after the "Lost Battalion" was again connected with the main fighting lines. The poem:

CHARLES W. WHITTLESEY Courageous, bold, defiant they stood—
Helpless, there in the drear Argonne wood.
A battalion of men, hearts true as gold.
Regardless—they the ravine must hold.
Led by the major, whose cool, calm meia Encouraged his men, when most helpless it seemed.
Surrender! Never, as history will tell.
Worthy his answer we know so well.
Warriors brave may come and go,
His name will stand forth as the annals will show;
Independent his will, America's creed
That never will bow to a foe, or recede;
Taught from his cradle that right is might,
Loyal he was, tho' near hopeless the fight.
Eager to live, yet he'd die for his flag,
Sacred he held the trust he had,
Enshrined in our hearts forever he'll be.
Yes—we're proud of Charles W.
Whittlesey.

Proud of our hero—whose home is In the Berkshire Hills we love so dear.
Throughout their vales his praise
will ring,
Time only will brighten our thoughts of him.
Superb—his comrades said he was,
Forever they'll honor his name because
It was his splendid spirit that saved
the day;
Encircled by foes, yet his manner
was gay,
Let us sing his praise, long may he live,
Deserves all the honor his country can give.
May his name stand forever, a bright shining light
Amongst other heroes of honor and might.
Strength of will was his, no man could surpass;
Salute—Charles W. Whittlesey—Pittsfield, Mass.

FOR ILLINOIS MOST MODEL PRISON

Statesville 'Plant' Has New Methods; One Guard Is Able to Watch All Prisoners

JOLIET, Ill., Dec. 2.—The new Illinois state penitentiary, a walled city of concrete and brick, is on the final lap of construction, and those in charge now figure that within five years the penal institution will be entirely completed.

The new prison is located at Statesville, near Joliet, and has been viewed by officials of seven European nations, as well as governors and wardens from practically every state in the union.

The prison wall encloses sixty-four acres. The walls, an innovation in cement construction, loom up thirty-three and a half feet in height and extend into the ground from ten to twenty feet. They cannot be scaled, it is figured, as there are no ledges at the top where hooks or ropes can be fastened. The smooth, gently sloping sides afford no chances for footholds.

When completed there will be eight cell houses, circular in construction. Two cell houses will be for the "less criminal" and four for those who are under regular prison discipline.

Use Brick and Concrete

Henry M. Tomlinson, superintendent of construction, was confronted with a unique problem when he started the building of the second cell house. The specifications called for brick walls, with white brick facing. Cost of materials and labor had advanced so far beyond what the state allotted for the work that after considerable experimentation it was decided to pour concrete between two walls of brick. This saved 2,000,000 brick and, altogether, cost one-half the amount figured for solid brick construction. All of the other cell houses are being built along the concrete brick plans.

The prison building proper is in the center of the prison yard and is laid out in a circular fashion, with the dining room in the center and the cell houses circling around it.
The eight cell houses will be connected to the central dining room by means of one story corridors, with basements, making the plans resemble a petaloid flower, with the dining hall as its center.

The cells surpass in appointments the rooms of many hotels, each having a lavatory, with hot and cold running water, a toilet, an outside window, a steel bed, with ample clean bedding, a table and enameled walls.

Lookout Tower Arranged

In the center of the prison yard is a tower, with an underground entrance. From the platform in the tower the guard can look into every cell. He can open a single cell door or all of them from his station and can switch on one light or all his lights from the same switchboard.

If the inmate is suspected of any irregularity his cell can be illuminated instantly from the central tower, and if some of the prisoners get in possession of firearms and open fire on the guard a steel shutter can be instantly dropped.

The prison has its own water system, supplied by two artesian wells.
Workshops and a hospital at present are under construction. Before plans were finally drawn W. Carlus Zimmerman, former state architect, made an extensive tour of Europe,
visiting ancient and modern prisons.

The "solitary," known in the old prison as "the black hole," is entirely different in design and object of past endeavors. Silence is the punishment meted out for infractions of rules, attempts to escape and other deviations from rules which draw sentences for the convicts. In the new solitary there is ventilation, but the walls inside and out are absolutely soundproof. Not a sound can be heard within that little building. There is a cork linoleum floor, cork walls and an ingenious window shutter which keeps out noise.

Some people are so funny that they make others sad.

Unemployment Strikes Mexico Mine Districts

MEXICO CITY, Mex.—Mexico's unemployment problems are increasing.

More mines have been shut down because of the low price of metals, throwing additional thousands of workers into idleness. It is said that in the state of Hidalgo alone 4,000 miners are out of work because of the suspension of operations.

Additional men have been discharged by oil companies in the Tampico region, adding to the already serious problem there. But there is hope of a resumption of work in the oil fields within a short time.

Terribly depressed conditions are reported in Oaxaca, where great numbers are idle.

Pressing want, with little prospect of substantial relief, is reported in Yucatan and Campeche.

In Vera Cruz the profit-sharing or "hunger" law has paralyzed industry and business, and distress is reported among the workers, who expected that the law would fill their pockets as never before.

There are so many sections needing relief that the government is able to give little help because of the lean condition of the treasury. Some help is given, but it falls far short of what is needed.

It is hoped that when reconition comes Mexico may be able to obtain something with which it will be able to improve conditions.

MAN WITH MOST 'GALL'

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo.—Deputy United States Marshal John Kennedy has found the man "that's got all the gall in the world."

"This man," says Kennedy, "was fined $200 for violating Mr. Volstead's law. He hasn't paid the government yet. The other day he came into my office and 'dunned' the Government of the United States for witness during a Grand Jury session.

My records show that this bird has been paid $16.10 as a court witness during the present term."

Price of Diamonds Won't Be Affected

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Second-hand diamonds bought up by merchants in Europe from bankrupt princely families and "distress diamonds," bought during prosperity and now thrown on the market in America and other countries, will have no appreciable effect in reducing the price of diamonds. These gems have come into the market in considerable quantities. Large quantities of diamonds came out of Russia. The jewels of the crown collection, it is believed, have been cut up to hide their identity and sold throughout the world by the Bolsheviks.

While the aggregate value of these resold diamonds of impoverished nobles and no longer affluent laboring men is large, they are a mere drop in the bucket in the world's diamond market. If one buys from private individuals one may chance to pick up a bargain. But trade prices of diamonds will not be affected by these gems.

Additional men have been discharged by oil companies in the Tampico region, adding to the already serious problem there. But there is hope of a resumption of work in the
oil fields within a short time.

DIDN'T LIKE HIS CLOTHES

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The old "rah rah" boy's clothes didn't suit the fancies of William C. Swift. But his wife insisted that he should be "garbed as a jellybean." When he purchased clothes suitable to his years Mrs. Swift altered them so as to make him look ridiculous, he declared. So, Mr. Swift has petitioned for a divorce.

OHIO CORN CROP REPORT

COLUMBUS—Although this year's corn crop in Ohio is 50,000,000 bushels less than that of last year, the amount of corn still held by the farmers increases the total supply this year almost to an equality with that of last year, according to J. West, agricultural statistician. The quality of the corn is very good.

TOPEKA, Kas.—Here's a new member for the "most forgetful" man's club.

V. E. Bundy, Topeka newspaperman, was to be married. He had the girl, the ring and everything.

As he journeyed toward the church where the ceremony was to be performed, he witnessed an automobile accident. He stopped, obtained the details, rushed to the office and started to write the story.

Almost too late, Bundy suddenly departed post-haste in the direction of the church. He reached there just in time for the wedding march.

STORIES FOR FILMS BASED ON BIBLE ARE PROPOSED

Actors and Staff Members to Be Christians, According to Plan of Promoters

By CHARLES E. HUGHES
Written for International News Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—Popularity of the Bible as a literary masterpiece is expected to be greatly increased as a result of the production of Biblical photo plays by a company soon to be formed here.

Frederic Vroom, former Shakespearean player and for the last eight years a photo-play actor, with more than 300 appearances in presentations of the largest concerns to his credit, is to be director-general of the new enterprise.

"It is the expectation of the backers of the new project that the popularity of the Bible will become more universal through the depiction in films of some of the many great stories that it contains," said Mr. Vroom. "At first the Biblical subjects will be limited to two reels, but later longer films will be made."

Only Few Show Films
"There are 175,000 churches of all denominations in the United States, and if only a comparatively small fraction of them exhibit films to their congregations it can be seen what a stupendous appeal can be made to the American public."

It is the intention of the new company to make their subjects strictly un denominational, so that they can be shown in any church without objections from any member. No expense will be spared in making the films as attractive as possible. At the same time great care will be exercised in making the productions conform to the text of the Bible.

"It will be a strict rule of the company that everyone connected with it in any way must be a Christian of good character. This will apply also to the actors and every member of the producing staff."

Would Elevate Industry
"While the film subjects will be expected to appeal primarily to churches they will also be available for presentation in such of the higher class theatres as desire to portray them. An investigation has shown that many theatres will exhibit them."

"It is my impression that the Biblical films will do much to elevate the motion-picture industry as a whole. When producers find that these historical narratives make a winning appeal to a large percentage of the public they will change the tone of the offerings they are now making."

Mr. Vroom won distinction with his appearances with Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett from 1886 to 1891. He became affiliated with the film industry about ten years ago as a director, but later became an actor. He has appeared with practically all of the leading film stars. At the present time he is engaged at the local Paramount studios.

KIDNAPS GIRLS, IS CHARGE

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 2.—Alleged to have attempted to kidnap two girls at the point of a revolver, Henry Kurtz, 23, is held by the police pending investigation. E. J. Speak was driving the Misses Ward and Schrader, when Kurtz in a powerful roadster several times attempted to run down Speak's car. The autos arriving simultaneously at the home of the girls, Kurtz flourished a gun, forced Speak to drive away and then compelled the girls to enter his car. Speak picked up an officer and gave chase. The girls jumped from Kurtz's car at a corner when they saw help approaching, but Kurtz escaped, to be arrested several hours later.

JAPAN IS BUYING CEDAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—Seven hundred thousand feet of cedar logs were loaded today aboard the freighter West Chopaka, due to depart from San Francisco harbor next Monday, adding further to the enormous movement of cedar for the Japanese government. Japan has been purchasing cedar for the past six months. The logs are being brought here for shipment on steam schooners, having been shipped out of harbors in the north. Explanation is given by Japanese agents that the cedar is for the manufacture of pencils, but steamship officials declare this is the first year Japan has purchased this material and the amount is far too great for pencils. Advances from the Orient have insisted that the cedar is for Japanese military and naval airplanes, it being preferable to spruce.

Number of Sales Reported by Kroehle & Nichols; Firm Adds to Sales Force

Recent sales totaling $55,500 are reported by the real estate firm of Kroehle & Nichols, 120 North Brand boulevard, the transactions including lots and acreages, among the latter being one nineteen-acre tract between Glendale and Burbank which will be subdivided soon and placed on the market.

Among the sales reported are the following: For W. C. Norman to King & Mulhally, nineteen acres between Glendale and Burbank; a double bungalow on Hawthorne street for William Clutter to W. S. Teters; three lots on Ethel street for Mrs. Weger to William Clutter; twenty-five feet on East Broadway between Louise street and Kenwood street for W. R. Middleworth to C. A. Harshbarger; two lots on Colorado street and Elk avenue for Mr. Mundy to C. H. Knapp; house and lot on Kenilworth avenue for Mr. Anderson to Mr. Mundy; one-half acre with garage house on Sunset Canyon boulevard for Mr. Phelps to Mr. Potter.

Acreage in Demand "Business has been very good," says Mr. Kroehle, "especially in acreages. Buyers are turning their attention to acreages now more than ever, and this is an indication of new subdivisions being opened which will bring many new families here as residents of Glendale. In fact, business has been so good I've had to get a new Dodge touring car to take care of the needs of the firm."

H. P. Goertz, 347 North Central avenue, has been added to the sales force of the firm.

Mr. Goertz came to Glendale about two years ago from Mountain Lake, Minn., and is planning to bring other relatives here.

"I came here to rest," said Mr. Goertz, "but after seeing so much activity, I felt as though I must get to work again. Glendale is a model home town I think, and I shall reside here permanently. My problem now is to get some of my relatives persuaded to move here, too."

MISSING GOLD DISCOVERED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—An unremitting search of a week was rewarded when detectives found $20,000 in gold still missing from the robbery of the specie tanks of the liner Sonoma. More than $100,000 was found a few days ago and the balance was located under the scuppers on a lower boat deck.

AUTHOR SAYS VERY FEW FOLK KNOW OF FANTASTIC

Gilbert K. Chesterton Has His Own Views on What Is Real Understanding

By F. A. WRAY
LONDON, Dec. 2.—Gilbert K. Chesterton, took a busy man's holiday when he lectured to the Authors' club, presided over by Anthony Hope Hawkins, on the subject of "The Fantastic in Literature."

Mr. Chesterton said that there was a very common suggestion that laughter had its origin in some form of cruelty or hostility to others, or pleasure at their distress or pain. This was generally repeated throughout the modern world and was very popular because it was depressing. "An old friend of mine," he continued, "Mrs. Samuel Barnett, had recently expressed herself with some disapproval about the rhyme of the cow jumping over the moon; and it was very touching to see the way in which literary critics with one accord rallied to the defense of 'Hey, diddle, diddle,' feeling a sort of common enthusiasm that here at last was a really great masterpiece of English poetry which they had not only always praised and admired and set up for the emulation and admiration of the world, but which they had actually even read."

When Cow Leaps Moon "It would require a good deal of psychology to contradict two facts of which that rhyme was a simple illustration. It was certainly a fact that children laughed at that nursery rhyme at a very early age and that the image of the cow jumping over the moon was a very simple incongruity that amused. Another was that it would be very difficult, even for a modern psychologist, to maintain that the pleasure a child took in that rhyme was entirely based on the cruel delight which a child would take in the cow coming with a thump to the ground."

"Few people seem to understand the fantastic when it is used logically upon the principle of the reduction ad absurdum. For instance, a man says there ought to be no private property of any kind; that there are none of the things men have that they should not share. "You then say to him, 'Your proposal about a communal toothbrush or a communal pair of trousers?' and he replies that you are making a jest of the discussion. The point to insist on is that he is the man who made the absurd remark. He is the man who made the joke, but the difference is that I can see the joke and he can't."

Isn't It the Truth

"Just like when the ordinary jolly old major, or man in the club tells you, 'I like to fight the enemy with their own weapons.' I say to him, 'How long does it take you to sting a wasp?' or 'How do cannibals taste?' or something of that sort. "In these circumstances the man in the club is liable to accuse you of fantasy; but, as a matter of fact, it is he who is fantastic. The main thing which misleads the Communist or the man in the club on these occasions and leads him to think that the common and timid logician on the other side was fanciful or flip-pant is the fact that the logician is roaring with laughter or otherwise obviously enjoying the situation."

WIDOW HAD TO ASK 'MAW'

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Well, well, well! A widow had to have the consent of her mother before she could marry the second time. A marriage license clerk declined to issue a license to Mrs. Nora Schaeffer, eighteen, and James R. Boone—until Mrs. Lillie Wade, mother of the widow, gave her consent.

Out of every five marriages comes one divorce, according to statistics.

Four Hundred Persons in Vienna Are Injured

VIENNA, Dec. 2.—Four hundred persons were wounded when soldiers with drawn sabres charged mobs that were rioting throughout the business district of this city. Quiet has been restored today. Four hundred arrests were made.

The damage is estimated at 200,000,000 kronen.

It was the most lawless demonstration in the history of the city. The plundering continued until midnight with the police helpless.

Heavy attacks were directed against the big hotels and finally the troops had to establish cordons to save them from destruction.

Forty thousand Austrian strikers joined the rioting. Motor cars were held up and the occupants stripped of overcoats and jewelry.

The Hotel Bristol was penetrated by workers who rushed to the fourth floor, where American and English guests had taken refuge. Most of the Americans had locked themselves in the apartments of Sir William Goode, an English Commissioner. The rioters broke down the door and threatened to attack the foreigners, but left without doing so.

The palace formerly owned by Archduke Ludwig was wrecked.

HAS SELF CONFIDENCE

LONDON—A Derby employer advertised a vacancy on his staff at $12 a week. He received 300 applications, among which was one enclosed in an ordinary envelope which had a border marked in red ink.

Printed across the top were the words, "As this envelope is unique and stands out from the rest, so does my application." He got the job.

BUT GROOM FOOLS 'EM TOO MUCH PUNCTUATION

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—The joke is on the gang. Friends of William Regenhart told "Bill" they'd buy the license and pay the preacher if he'd let them witness his marriage. Regenhart agreed. The details were arranged. The license was purchased. "Well, boys," said Regenhart when his friends came to carry out their part of the bargain, "the joke is on you. We were married last night." And he smiled at his wife.

DEATH TOLL NOW TWELVE

RED BLUFF, Dec. 2.—The death of Charles E. Bosworth, 16, driver of the student-laden auto bus which was struck by a Southern Pacific passenger train at Proberta grade crossing, brought the death toll of the accident to twelve today. Eva McNaughton, with both legs broken, will probably be the only survivor of the party of fifteen students. Marion Day and Eva Linderman, both with fractured skulls and other injuries, are expected to die.

PLENTY OF PHEASANTS

WELLINGTON, O.—The state game farm here raised 6000 ring-necked pheasants during the present season and shipped them to all parts of Ohio. The farm is keeping 700 matured birds for the purpose of continuing the hatchery next season. This policy, it is expected, will be followed until the state is amply restocked with the diminished nimrod's prize.

PLAN MEXICAN HOSPITAL

MEXICO CITY, Mex. — American Masons have become interested in the opening here of a hospital for crippled children, and it is probable that a structure costing about $200,000 will be erected. At this hospital children will receive free medical and surgical treatment.

One full-grown bull snake is capable of cleaning up all the gophers on an acre of alfalfa, according to the Kansas Agricultural college.

The percentage of illiteracy in Japan is lower than that of the United States.

TOO MUCH PUNCTUATION

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo.—Ernest Shefer says in his petition for divorce from his wife that Mrs. Shefer "formed the disagreeable habit of too strenuously punctuating her remarks regarding domestic relations" by hurling dishes, boiled potatoes and skillet at him. A rolling pin was not mentioned, but Shefer declares he "draws the line when a woman chunks me with hot potatoes." Divorce was granted.

TELL OF EXTENDED TRIP TAKEN INTO EASTERN STATES

ter F. Lineberger of Long Beach, who gave a letter of introduction to the commissioner general of immigration at Washington. The private secretary of the secretary of immigration at Ellis Island escorted Mr. and Mrs. Black and daughter on the island, showing them the different stages through which the immigrant passes from the time of their arrival on the island to their departure. The hospital and school were also examined.

On Board Big Ship
The Blacks had the pleasure of going on board the largest ocean greyhound of the Cunard line, the S. S. Aquitania, and of bidding farewell to Dr. Silas Johnson and family, who were sailing on that vessel for their missionary field in Africa.

While in New York City Mr. and Mrs. Black and daughter attended the famous Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, the oldest in that city, and where former President Roosevelt was a member. Although New York City is the metropolis and the wealthiest city in the United States, the Blacks were impressed with the fact that, apparently, the Sabbath was observed more there than in California. The shades of the large department stores were drawn down at their show windows, and the candy stores were closed and darkened.

Niagara Falls and Chicago were visited on the return trip. At the latter city Mr. and Mrs. Black and daughter had the opportunity to see Marshal Foch receive his degree from the Chicago university. They also witnessed the Chicago university and Madison university football game.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Strategic Location
What Visitors Think
Service for Tourists
Unbelievable Stories

By Gil A. Cowan

ONCE again Glendale's strategic location in the vicinity of Los Angeles is proved worthy of comment. In convincing the committee on entertainment of the French general while he is in Los Angeles, James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, called attention to the fact that the shortest route from the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles to Pasadena was through Glendale. That settled the question of the honored visitor stopping here for an introduction to our mayor and other dignitaries.

It is interesting to know what these foreign visitors think of the United States. In a bulletin recently issued by the American legion the following statements are made by the four visiting leaders at the Kansas City convention:
Foch—Tremendous. I see now the reason for the grand scale of your undertakings and the immensity of your success.
Beatty—My visit as guest of the American legion has impressed upon me more and more the unanimity of your national effort toward the fulfillment of ideals.

Jacques—Your power—the mighty strength of your country—comes, as I have found it, from your capacity for work and your enjoyment of it. The greatest impression was made upon me by the completeness of your assimilation. I was proud to see my former countrymen now as ardent in their Americanism as your native born.

Here's an opportunity to "trade at home" and do Glendale a real service! H. L. Legrand, agent for the Pacific Electric, has sent out notices to business men and firms calling their attention to the fact that the Southern Pacific railroad tickets and sleeping car reservations can be purchased at the local office, Broadway and Brand boulevard, to any point in the United States. Baggage may be checked direct from here to destination and assistance will be given in travel plans.

"Why not do your business here in Glendale," Mr. Legrand pertinently asks?
Unbelievable building in Glendale! That is what one man from Missouri wrote to his son in Glendale. Show me, was the spirit of his letter. This local salesman is sending his father copies of yesterday and today's issues of The Glendale Evening News containing the architect's drawings of business blocks to be built here this winter.

"Maybe I'll convince dad that California is all it's now cracked up to be," he said. "You know he was at San Diego seven years ago and returned east, but he should be in Glendale today."

JAPAN BOY, HE THANKS

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 2.—Shades of Hashimura! When he left the house where he was employed as a servant, a youth from the land of the rising sun left this note to the lady of the household:
"Madam dear from boy Many I thank you for kind while I am stayed here as I want yours family make happy living here with a healthful and pleasant, I thank you very honorable much."

Lawyer for Arbuckle Receives Death Threat

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—Counsel and friends of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle were not inclined today to regard seriously a threat contained in a letter received by Milton Cohen, the fat comedian's personal attorney, made public yesterday.

"If you free Arbuckle a bullet will await both you and your fat friend when you step outside the courtroom," the note said.

Cohen said it was one of hundreds received during the trial. Gavin McNab, chief of counsel, today revealed that during the trial he received telegrams and letters from scores of eminent physicians and surgeons all over the country offering medical tips, some of which were of great value in the defense's researches.

In the midst of arguments yesterday, a belated telegram came from a New Hampshire physician.

Outlines History of Education at Session

The regular meeting of the Carriots Avenue Parent-Teacher association of which Mrs. E. L. Adams is president, was held yesterday afternoon at the school building. At 2:30 o'clock refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed. The program began at 3 o'clock and included the flag salute, led by Mrs. Ella Gray; one verse of the "Star Spangled Banner"; group singing by A-1 and B-2 grades, "The Lost Balloon" and "The Swing Song"; recitation, "The Little Girls of Long Ago," by Isabel Gates; a composition by Margery Carpenter.

The speaker for the afternoon was Miss Wilhelmina Van de Goorberg of the Teachers' club of Los Angeles, and vice president of the National Educational association. She gave an outline of the history of education, and also of the Townier-Sterling bill, which if adopted will provide for a secretary of education at Washington, the same as the secretary of war, secretary of agriculture, and so forth.

Woman Being Held on Suspicion of Burglary

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—A woman who identified herself as Mrs. Belle Heil, 39, widow of a Chicago banker, and who local police officials believe is Mrs. Etta B. Heil, divorced wife of Joseph B. Heil of Chicago, is held here today in the city jail on suspicion of burglary.

According to the police she confessed, after a rigid questioning, that she had taken clothing and jewelry from the residence of Sam Wood, a motion picture director. She had applied for a position as a maid, and it is said, confessed entering the home when she saw Mrs. Wood leave. Police officials said they had information which caused them to believe Mrs. Heil to be the same woman who robbed a number of fashionable Chicago homes while posing as a maid. Heil is said to have made restitution for the articles taken and the charges were dropped.

ONE KILLED, FIVE INJURED

Others are believed to have been buried in the wreckage. The body of Charles Nelson, a carpenter living in Lockport, was recovered. Search is being made in the wreckage for additional bodies in the belief that others who are missing may have lost their lives.

HER HUSBAND'S RIGHT

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Complaining at Tottenham of assault, a woman said it was the second time the same man had assaulted her.

"I took no notice when he kicked me the first time," she said, "because it was dark and I took it to be my husband. Then I saw it was a stranger and I screamed."

HERE IS A MODEL TOWN

WELLINGTON, Ohio, Dec. 2.—This community of 8000 inhabitants is thinking of abandoning the jail and giving the marshal a vacation. A survey shows only two arrests were made during the past ten months and that both prisoners, men, later were discharged.

F. D. Dunham Gives Meat Demonstration for School Pupils

F. D. Dunham of the Sebastian Grocery & Market, 145 North Glendale avenue, is conducting a demonstration in meat cutting for the domestic science classes of the Intermediate school this afternoon.

Mr. Dunham has had much experience in conducting these demonstrations and will dissect a half of beef to show the different cuts of meat, emphasizing particularly the qualities of the cheaper cuts.

In speaking of these demonstrations, Mr. Dunham says: "There are many cuts of meat which are just as good, if not better, than the prime cuts which are high priced. The only reason people do not buy some of the cheaper cuts is because they do not know the good quality of these, in fact, it is surprising how many people know comparatively little about the portion of meat they wish to purchase.

"This demonstration will serve to get the class familiar with the different cuts of meat; and the more the public knows about these the more co-operation we can expect.

"The high price of prime cuts is due, to a large extent, to the demand for such cuts, as in buying from the packer the butcher must make a sacrifice in order to get prime rib roasts and T-bone steaks."

Great Bargains in Used Cars Are Now Offered to Public

Four used cars were sold by the Packer Auto company of Colorado and Brand boulevards the first day of their big used car sale. They attribute this immediate response to their advertising because the rock bottom price is quoted on every model offered.

"We must take these losses in December," said Mr. Packer this morning, "in order to charge them off against our 1921 profits in the income tax report. We have taken in machines on trades for new Studebakers and we also have several demonstrators at bargain prices. The latter carry with them the new car guarantee of service.

"Every machine offered is in good condition, for if they needed fixing we did that in our own shop and give them to the buyer in good running order. There are four lots to choose from, the cheapest being quoted at $205."

Packer used car sales in December is an annual bargain event which everyone contemplating the purchase of a machine can well take advantage in effecting the utmost in economy.
